HE WON'T RUN WITH HEWITT.

WHY AMOS J. CUMMINGS WILL KEEP OFF THE C. D. TICKET.

He Resents His Action in " Raising Money for a Scab" Last Summer-He Objects Also to His Action on the Naturalization Question, His Attack on the Cartmen and His Refusal to Review the St. Patrick's Day Parade.

"I did say last night, in response to the mouiry of a personal friend, that I could not afford to run for Congress on the same ticket with Abram S. Hewitt." So said Amos J. Cummings after reading s report in THE WORLD, and he added : I am sorry that THE WORLD did not print the rest of the conversation giving my reasons for the remark. For years I was a type setter in this city, and was and am now member of Typographical Union No. 6. I have been a participant in many a strike, and have always taken great interest in the wel-fare of trades unions.

'I know that they resent Mayor Hewitt's nction in raising money for a 'scab' last Summer. It was wanton and uncalled for. My blood bolled with indignation when I read his letter proposing to raise the Hartt fund.

read his letter proposing to raise the Hartt fund.

"No man honors more than I do the members of the Workingwoman's Protective Association who refused to take any of the money thus raised, because it had been contributed for the benefit of an enemy of trade unions. They had lost their situations because of their testimony before a Congressional investigation committee. They needed the money, but they preferred to take the chances of starvation instead of proving false to the principles of their association.

"Another thing: I do not like Mayor Hewitt's attitude on the naturalization question, nor his aftempt to force cartmen and truck drivers to keep their carts and trucks, when not in use, off the streets at night.

"Above all I didn't like his refusal to review the St. Patrick's Day procession. He found time to go up to the Metropolitan Opera-House and sit on the platform with Erastus Wiman and participate in the ceremonies attending the Queen's jubilec. Union Square is only half way from the City Hall to the Metropolitan Opera-House, and he could not find time to appear there and review a procession on St. Patrick's Day.

"He may be an American, but it seems to me no trus American will ever honor England at the expense of Ireland.

COUNTY DEMOCRATS NOT CHEERFUL.

One of the strongest County Democracy men in the Twenty-fourth Ward said to-day:

"Jim is doomed. He never got anything there without the assistance of Purroy, and the followers of the Commissioner are going to slaughter him this time. It was a mistake to nominate Mooney for Coroner with an idea that his candidacy would strengthen the ticket."

The Counties have addressed a letter to Chairman Cochrane, of the Tammany General Committee, with a view to securing a union on the nominations for Congressional, Assembly and Aldermanic candidates.

To-night the United Labor Party will hold conventions, placing in the field twenty-five candidates for Aldermen.

The John McFsrland Association, of the Twenty-Second Assembly District, which entusiastically indorsed the nomination of Sheriff Grant, will hold a grand ratification meeting at Manhattan Hall, 414 East Sixty-third street, this evening.

NO ONE WILL SHOULDER IT.

Shifting the Responsibility for the Decapitation. Father Abram has called off his dogs.

A wholesale decapitation of Tammany adherents in the city departments controlled by the County Democracy was began yesterday in the Department of Public works. The news got to the ears of Mayor Hewitt last evening and he was wroth.

Hence his peremptory order to Gen. New-

Hence his peremptory order to Gen, Newton, calling a halt in the decapitation of Tammany Hall men in his department.

Twelve Grant men lost their heads in the Public Works Department yesterday. Nine of them were laborers.

The other three were Cornelius W. Campbell, janitor of Jefferson Market Court building, and John White and Daniel F. Me-Carthy, foremen in the sewer department.

These men were succeeded by James F. Kelly, Terrance Reilly and Daniel Murphy respectively, the men who held the positions prior to the appointment of the deposed Tammanyties.

Gen. Newton had said that the discharged employees were Squire appointees, and their employees were Squire appointees, and their displacement was simply the continuation of a policy which he had inaugurated soon after his secretary.

boney which he had mangurated soon after his appointment.

Deputy Collector D. Lowber Smith received this statement this morning.

Deputy County Clerk Thomas F. Gilroy. Secretary of the Tammany Society, said that this statement was untrue. He said that McCarthy certainly was appointed at the request of Tammany, soon after Gen. Newton came into office as a result of the entente cordical established between the two Democratic organizations after the election of Mayor Hewitt. He thought this was also true of Campbell.

At the Department of Public Works this morning there seemed to be a general desire to shift the responsibility for the discharge of the Tammany men.

Deputy Commissioner Smith said: "Gen.
Newton discharged those men. I had nothing to do with it." Gen. Newton said :

It was a surprise to me. I knew nothing of the discharge of the men until 3 o'clock yes-terday afternoon. It was all a mistake, and twould be a long story to tell how it came about.

"I saw Mayor Hewitt at his residence last evening, and he expressed great displeasure at the proscription of men for their political affiliations.

"All of the men will be reinstated where here existed no valid reason for their dismissel."

What do you consider a valid reason?

"What do you consider a valid reason?"
THE EVENING WORLD reporter asked.
"Well, I won't allow any offensive partisanship in the Department. If these men have been shouting their political preferences about the streets and raising a disturbance, I consider that sufficient reason. I am now considering the question of reinstating the men removed yesterday."

The general cuition, among the Tammany men removed yesterday."

The general opinion among the Tammany men questioned with reference to the action of the Department of Public Works was that Boss Power is the sole judge as to what constitutes offensive parti-sanship in Public Works employees and that affiliation with Tammany is sufficient.

MAY RESUME THE STRIKE TO-DAY.

Unless the Old Employees Are Given the Preference-The Schedule.

ISPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD, I CHICAGO, Oct. 16,-The street-car strike is likely to be resumed before noon. The midnight meeting of the men resulted in the ap-pointment of a committee at 5 A. M. to wait on Yerkes and demand that the old hands be given the preference over new ones. If this is not conceded the former will go out again

o-morrow. One line, that from Garfield avenue, is being run this morning entirely with new men, two policemen being on each scar to Besides this grievance the men are by no means satisfied with the outcome, now they have a chance to figure it up.

One conductor on a grip-car said this morning: '' Under the new arrangement I get 19% cents an hour and the South Side conductors get 30 cents; then Yerkes is arranging the new schedule to go into effect in two weeks, so that we cannot make more than ten hours a day, while some of us will not run that

READY FOR THE GREAT GAME.

President Von der Abe and the St. Louis Browns in Town To-Day.

President Christ Von der Ahe and his St. Louis Browns struck town last night and went immediately to their rooms in the Grand Central Hotel.

This morning, from 10 o'clock till noon time, the famous manager and his secretary, Mr. Munson, were busy receiving calls, answering questions and completing arrange-ments for the opening game with the Giants Neither Von der Ahe nor his Club have much to say about the probable winner of the World's series other than that if the Giants expect a snap their expectations are sure to take a tumble. Giants expect a snap their expectations are sure to take a tumble.

Besides the players the party consists of Mike Lane, of the Post-Dispatch: Joseph Murphy, of the Giobe-Democrat: Al Spink, editor of the Sporting Netes; Mrs. Spink, Don Resedy, of the "Star Sayings:" Wm. Medart, Thos. Wand, Wm. Wetherell, Ed Von der Ahe, and August Blenke, of St. Louis, who is travelling with the Club in order to see the grand stands in the different cities preparatory to designing one for St. Louis. Mrs. Comiskey, Miss Latham, Mrs. Von der Ahe, and Master Clifford Latham, massot, are also with the club. The following baseball men have also arrived in the city: Wheeler Wikoff, President of the Louisvilles; Orron Stern, President of the Louisvilles; Orron Stern, President of the Cincinnati Club, and Tom Loftus, Manager of the Cleveland Ciub. The latter says he is going into the League next year, sure, but between Cleveland and Cincinnati it is likely the League will choose the latter city.

MYSTERY.

The Identity of Flaocomie's Murderer Remains Uncertain.

Capt. McCullagh Yet Believes in the Dinner-Party Clue.

A Vendetta Story That Is Being Traced for Possible Results.

The mystery which surrounds the death of Antonio Flaccomio, the Italian who was murdered in front of Cooper Union last Sunday evening, is thicker than ever. Not only are the detectives of Capt. McCullagh's precinct doing their best to shed some light upon it, but Inspector Byrnes's staff has been pressed into the service.

Detective Sergt. Perazzo is engaged in working up the theory that the death of Flaccomio may be the end of a long-wazed vendetta, and that the murderer may be Ramon Farach, once a Brooklyn photographer, whose brother was slain, some four years ago, by that Flaccomio, in a duel on Staten Island over a woman. Farach was instrumental in bringing Flaccomio before the authorities of the law, but he was acquitted of the charge, and Farach swore eternal ven-geance against the murderer of his brother the charge, and Farach swore eternal vengeance against the murderer of his brother Carmilio in the presence of many persons.

Detectives Roth and Bissert, of the Fourteenth Precinct, together with Capt. McCullagh himself, are busy in the case to-day. It has created an intense excitement in the Italian quarter of that part of the town where all the parties connected with the case were well known. From the waiter, Scheggi, it has been learned that there were seven people in the little party at the Italian restaurant. "In Trinacria," in St. Mark's place, last Sunday night, when Flaccomic was last seen alive. Three of these persons have been placed under arrest. They are Giuseppe Canizzaro, the cook: Natale Sabatino, his partner and part proprietor of the restaurant, and F. Aita, the manager of the little feather-duster store at 118 Third avenue. They have all admitted that they were together that evening drinking wine with Flaccomic.

The detectives say that they have the names of the three other persons who completed the circle around the table, and that they are only waiting to arrest them all before they proceed with the case before the Coroner. Thus far they have beenginsuccessful in their search, for all of the parties have kept themselves concealed somewhere, and their acquaintances, will the characteristic reticence of the Italians, will give the police no information whatever about them. As their homes are known, however, it is only a question of time when they will be captured.

It is Capt. McGullagh's theory that one of that party is the murderer of Antonic Flaccomio, and he majests that he is going to prove it in the end. At present the suspicions are strongest against Sabatino, on account of the contradictions of which he was guirty in his first testimony.

Cantoni & Co., the Italian bankers, of 25 Wall street, whose deposit receipts for $400 were found upon the person of Carosella, would say nothing whatever about their client, and declined to tell whether or not such a person had any account with them.

There is a feature of the case, however, which the police seem thus far to have overlooked, and it is one which adds further mystery to the affair. This is the relations which Flaccomio sustained to a certain Stefano Bono, a very suspicious character, who lately had been seen repeatedly in Flaccomio's company.

a certain Sterano Bono, a very suspicious character, who lately had been seen repeatedly in Flaccomio's company.

It was ascertained by an Evenino World reporter that this Bono was two years ago convicted of "shoving the queer." and passed a certain time in the pentientiary. Within the past two or three months he has been seen hanging about the grocery store of which Flaccomio was manager, at 607 Third avenue, and holding consultations with Flaccomio at all hours.

During the summer and up to Oct. 1 it was learned that Bono had kept a barber shop at 233 East Twenty-second street. At the latter date he disappeared mysteriously and has not been seen in that neighborhood since. Policeman Murphy, of the Eighteenth Precinct, knew him well and often got shaved there. He regarded him as a suspicious character.

Bono's meetings with Flaccomic had been character.

Bono's meetings with Flaccomio had been more frequent than ever during the last two or three weeks before his disappearance, and Thomas Boylston, a young man employed in the undertaking shop at 609 Third avenue, and John McCarthy, of 335 East Forty-third treet, have observed him repeatedly in Flaccomio's shop. Only a short time ago they had a violent quarrel late in the night, and Bono went away apparently in a great rage. It is said that Bono was one of the party which drank wine in "La Trinacria" on Sunday night, but the police refused to say whether this was true or not. Detective Bissert said this morning that he remembered the arrest of Bono for counterfeiting, and before Aita was taken down to the Coroner's office he questioned him regarding his knowledge of Bono. The prisoner, however, refused to say anything at all about that mysterious personage.

The body of the murdered man still lay in Anton Palmer's undertaking shop at 127 East Fourth street this morning. Flaccomio had plenty of money to pay his funeral expenses, so his brother-m-law, Giuseppe Agillo, who is superintending his burial will not have to pay out anything. He does not seem to have had very friendly feelings for his de-from the undertaker's this afternoon, and it is understood that ararngements have been made to have the interment take place at Calvary Cemetery. The relatives of the deceased will take care of his two children, who were living at 607 Third avenue.

The new prisoner, F. Aita, who was arrested last evening at the feather store in Third avenue, was taken before the Coroner this morning and examined as to his knowledge of the case. He was far from being a straightforward witness and seemed to be holding his knowledge back.

The story that was finally gotten out of him was very different from the one told by Scheggi and Canizarro, as well as that of Sabatino.

He said that he was in 'La Trinacria' drinking with Flaccomio and the others, but that Flaccomio was the first to go out. He left the table a little after 8 o'clock, while the rest all remained till nearly 10 o'clock and then went out to-gether. They all walked up Third avenue, and he and Sabatino went in when they came to their home.

This directly conflicts with Sabatino's acto their home.

This directly conflicts with Sabatino's account, who says he went out first and when he got home he found Aita there already.

The Coroner committed Aita to the Tombs to await further investigation.

Raimon Farach, the Brocklyn photographer who has been mentioned in the ven detta theory of the murder of Flaccomic, was found by an Evening Wolld reporter this afternoon.

He is at 31 Myrtle avenue, Brocklyn, but his sign and business cards bear the name "John Farach."

He is a tall, thin man, fifty-four years of age, and although he speaks English with the peculiarities of the Italian, he is gentle and almost refined.

He said that the people about him had always called him John, but his "private" name was Raimon.

'You have seen the reports in the morning papers that you were suspected of killing Flaccomic for revenge?" asked the reporter.

The old gentleman's eyes twinkled through a pair of huge spectacles, and he stroked his long gray side whiskers amusedly.

"Yes," he said, "or—that is, my daughter is just reading the story to me."

He called the attention of the reporter to a beautiful young woman of the Italian type, plump, clear skinned and wide-eyed, with tresses as black as the raven. She laughed and displayed a set of perfect teeth.

"We were laughing at the story," she explained, with a little blush.

"Then, it is not true?" said the reporter.

"Oh my, no! Papa was here Sunday night with uncle and brother and the rest of us. Uncle Salvatore or Charlie, as you please, and my brother Raimon, or John, as he is called."

room, where Mr. Trenor was sitting, and shoved them a document, which Mr. Trenor said he wanted them to sign. Mr. Clark read the document to Mr. Trenor and asked him if it was his last will and testament. Trenor said it was. Mr. Clark then took a pen, pointed to the name, "P. Trenor," on the document and asked Mr. Trenor if that signature was his. Mr. Trenor said it was. Mrs. Meyer's testimony was slightly at variance with her husband's. She said Mr. Stover called them upstairs and that she had not seen Mr. Clark that morning.

The Surrogate adjourned the case till tomorrow at 3 o'clock, after hearing these witnesses.

DOES HE INHERIT FROM BOTH FATHERS? A Novel Question to Be Decided by the Supreme Court of Massachusetta.

[SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.] Boston, Oct 16 .- The legal representatives of the estate of Irving G. Curtis, of Boston. as to share of inheritance of an adopted son of the said Curtis, which came up before Justice Field in the Equity session of the Supreme Court to-day, presented a peculiar and novel question.

It appears that Mr Curtis, who left some $50,000, previous to his death legally adopted a child of his son, the son having died before the testator. There are five heirs and the adopted son.
Counsel for the adopted son claim that he Counsel for the adopted son claim that he inherits, not only from his adopted parent, but also from his natural parent, which would give him a double portion of his grandfather's estate. Counsel for the other heirs contend that he can only inherit equally with the rest.

Justice Field was of opinion that the adopted son only took one share.

The case will be reported to the full bench of the Supreme Court.

JOSIE IS AT HOME The Exiled Boy Safely Domiciled

There Was a Scene to Start Tears When He Came.

with His Rochester Uncle.

Warm Hearts, New Clothes and a Rouse ing Welcome for the Boy.

ROCHESTER, Oct. 16.—Little Josie Shephard

as reached his new home. In company with an agent of the New York Juvenile Asylum he has just reached this city from the West, and was taken by the agent at once to the residence of the waiting uncle, John Shephard, jr., at 838 North Clinton street, where a scene ensued that might have brought tears to the eyes of many man of the world.

There has been quite a delay in the matter. owing to the necessity for formal proceedings, after the decision of the Indenturing Committee was reached: but now it is all over and the great work of the exile's restoration has been accomplished. Ever since THE EVENING WORLD took up the little fellow's cause Josie's uncle and aunt have anxiously watched for his coming and have eagerly listened to all the information given them about him. As the days passed on, however, and the demands of the Indenturing Committee became more and think that he must take care of him.

This little waif, though eight years of age, has evidently never been to school and can hardly say his A B C's, but he is naturally a bright boy and has had his wits sharpened, perhaps too much, by hard experience.

He seems to be perfectly healthy, save for his lungs. He inherits weak lungs from his parents, but his new father and mother hope by proper care to overcome that weakness.

His appetite is excellent and astonishes his parents, who are only too pleased to see how quickly he has accustomed himself to his new home.

quickly he has accustomed himself to his new home.

Yes, it is a happy family which now dwells in the pretty little cottage on North Clinton street. To be sure the house is not luxuriously furnished, and one of the rooms has no carpet, but it is home to the father, mother and their two children, who nightly assemble under its roof, and could the members of The Evening World staff, who have worked so hard to place Josie where he properly belonged, see this family circle as the writer saw it, they would feel that they had indeed been laboring in a good cause.

Said Mr. Shephard: "I shall never forget what The Evening World has done for me, and I hope that it may live long and do many others who are in trouble as much good."

Murphy's and Wetr's Meeting.
